CITY OF LOS ANGELES DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION RECEIVES TRANSPORTATION ACHIEVEMENT AWARD FROM THE INSTITUTE OF TRANSPORTATION ENGINEERS

AUGUST 20, 2008, WASHINGTON, DC— The City of Los Angeles, CA, USA, Department of Transportation received the Transportation Achievement Award for Facilities at the Institute of Transportation Engineers (ITE) 2007 Annual Meeting and Exhibit, being held August 17–20, 2008 in Anaheim, CA, USA.

The City of Los Angeles Department of Transportation received the award in recognition of the Santa Monica Boulevard Transit Parkway, a project that meets the mobility needs of 21st-century Los Angeles while providing an attractive, multi-modal street. It has become the most “complete street” in Southern California.

The Transportation Achievement Award for Facilities recognizes significant and outstanding transportation achievements by entities concerned with transportation, such as government agencies, legislative bodies, consulting firms, industry and other private-sector organizations.

For a complete listing of all of ITE’s 2008 award winners, visit the ITE Web site at www.ite.org.

The Institute of Transportation Engineers is an international educational and scientific association of transportation professionals who are responsible for meeting mobility and safety needs. Through its products and services, ITE promotes professional development of its members, supports and encourages education, stimulates research, develops public awareness programs and serves as a conduit for the exchange of professional education.

Founded in 1930, ITE serves as your source for expertise, knowledge and ideas through meetings, seminars and publications, and through its network of more than 17,000 members working in more than 92 countries.
