Help ITE Provide Transportation Professionals with Critical New Data in Three Easy Steps

As we develop the Parking Generation Manual, 6th Edition a key question is "what does parking demand look like in a post-COVID-19 environment?" We are requesting that each one of our more than 17,000 transportation professionals and students helps us gain additional insight into this question and assists with the creation of the next Parking Generation Manual.

Entering the data takes less than three minutes. It is as easy as

- 1) Select a place to count.
- 2) Count the parked vehicles.
- 3) Enter data here. This platform is both mobile and desktop friendly

Data can be collected for ANY land use during its peak parking demand period. Listed below are sample land uses with guidance on when to count.

If you have any questions or concerns, please contact Lisa Fontana Tierney.
