ITE Names Steve Kuciemba as Deputy Executive Director and Chief Technical Officer

WASHINGTON, DC — The Institute of Transportation Engineers (ITE) is pleased to announce that Steve Kuciemba (F) will be joining ITE on October 16, 2022, as Deputy Executive Director (ED) and Chief Technical Officer (CTO).

As a Deputy ED, Steve will serve as part of ITE’s Executive Leadership Team, helping provide day-to-day management and support for the ITE enterprise and providing advice and guidance to the ITE Board of Direction. In his role as CTO, Steve will support the Council Leadership Team, six technical councils and 15 standing committees; lead ITE’s multi-million-dollar annual contract program; facilitate partnerships with other associations; guide the technical program for the ITE Annual Meeting and the Spring Conference; and manage the ITE technical staff.

Most recently, Steve served as a Senior Vice President and the National ITS/CAV Practice Leader with WSP. He has 35 years of transportation experience in the public sector, private sector, and in the association space. Prior to WSP, Steve was an Executive Vice President at ITS America and provided oversight to the organization’s technical programs and day-to-day operations.

“Steve has been an active volunteer with ITE and brings strong executive leadership skills and broad technical knowledge to the Deputy ED/CTO position,” said ITE Executive Director and CEO Jeffrey F. Paniati, P.E. (F). “As a nationally recognized leader in Intelligent Transportation Systems and with his prior experience in leading an association, Steve is well-prepared to take on this important leadership role with ITE.”

About ITE – Founded in 1930, ITE is a community of transportation professionals including, transportation engineers, transportation planners, consultants, educators, technologists, and researchers. Through meetings, seminars, publications, and a network of more than 16,000 members working in 78 countries, ITE connects you to a world of ideas, people, and resources.
