

View this email in your browser.

Neelam Dorman Elected as 2027 ITE International President and Marc Jacobson Elected International Vice President

ITE—A Community of Transportation Professionals (ITE) is pleased to announce that Neelam Dorman, P.E., T.E. (F), has been elected as ITE International President, and Marc Jacobson, P.E., PTOE (F), has been elected as ITE International Vice President. Both will assume their leadership roles in January 2027.

Neelam Dorman serves as Region 1 Planning Manager at the Oregon Department of Transportation (ODOT) and is currently ITE's International Vice President. A dedicated ITE volunteer for more than two decades, she has held leadership roles at the Section, District, and International levels, including service as International Director for the Western District and on the International Executive Committee. Throughout her ITE career, Neelam has championed volunteer engagement, strengthened connections with Districts, Sections, and Chapters, and advanced initiatives such as the Safety Roadmap Action Plan, the Branding Initiative, and strategic planning efforts. Neelam is committed to supporting volunteers, integrating planners more fully into ITE's technical dialogue, and expanding K–12 STEM partnerships to build the next generation of transportation professionals.

Marc Jacobson is the Assistant Director of Public Works and City Traffic Engineer for the City of San Antonio, Texas. An active ITE member and leader at the Section, District, and International levels, Marc currently serves as International Director for the Texas District and has previously served as District President and Vice President. With a career spanning municipal government and research, he brings a collaborative leadership style grounded in listening, innovation, and practical problem-solving. His priorities include strengthening connections across all career stages, expanding access to affordable learning and mentorship opportunities, leading global conversations on critical issues such as emerging technologies and climate resilience, and advancing inclusivity throughout the transportation profession

“Neelam and Marc represent the depth of talent and dedication within our global membership,” said Steve Kuciemba, ITE Executive Director and CEO. “Neelam’s experience across every level of ITE leadership and her focus on volunteer support and strategic growth will guide the organization with clarity and purpose. Marc’s commitment to member connection, community, and addressing the critical issues shaping transportation’s future will strengthen our ability to serve professionals across all disciplines and geographies.”

ITE extends its gratitude to Hardik Shah, P.E., PTOE (F), for running a positive and professional campaign and to all the members who engaged in the election process.

About ITE — Founded in 1930, ITE is an international membership association of transportation professionals who work to improve safety and mobility for all transportation system users and help build smart and livable communities. Through its products and services, ITE promotes professional development and career advancement for its members, supports and encourages education, identifies necessary research, develops technical resources including standards and recommended practices, develops public awareness programs, and serves as a conduit for the exchange of professional information. Through meetings, seminars, publications, and a network of more than 18,000 members working in 78 countries, ITE connects members to a world of ideas, people, and resources. For more information, visit www.ite.org.

###

ITE—A Community of Transportation Professionals

1627 Eye Street, #550

Washington, DC 20006

www.ite.org | info@ite.org

Unsubscribe

