Since my last column, the ITE Board of Direction (IBOD) had a meeting in Phoenix Arizona where the ONE ITE Task Force went over the comments received on the model District charters and bylaws. The Western District Task Force completed its initial outreach and delivered its findings to the IBOD and will now move ahead and begin to develop a transition plan for the formation of a new district. The Midwest and Great Lakes Districts transition committees are working diligently on their transitions plans and the Florida District is developing its transition committee, which will be in place this month.

The next steps for the ONE ITE Task Force are to finalize the new charters and bylaws and then move forward with the creation of both Section and Chapter charters and bylaws.

It is vital to the long-term success of ITE for us to embrace the changes of the ONE ITE initiative. We must now move ahead and create our new future. As this important initiative continues to move forward, please remember that the overarching goal of ONE ITE is to ensure our long-term viability. This opportunity creates ideas that can benefit our industry. If you find yourself with questions about any of the ONE ITE initiative, please visit the ONE ITE webpage and become more familiar about the how and why of ONE ITE. If you still have concerns, let's chat.
